DESIGNER AWARD FOR BATHROOMS
PROJECT COST OVER £15K

Winner Zak Reynolds · Ripples Chichester

This award rewards the skill of the bathroom designer in their aesthetic results, but also the use of budget, solving problems and meeting the brief.

Zak says this is his favourite room of the last six years of designing bathrooms. His clients were a young, professional couple in their late-20s who wanted a room they could both use at the same time. And Zak has more than achieved this using a unique stand alone island unit in the centre of the room. He also used a lot of imagination in raising the floor level and installing false walls to create personality.

Judges' comments

"That island in the middle is what sets this room off. It's a great little bit of inspiration that makes this room something out of the ordinary. You have to be pretty brave to do it but it works. It's like a mini-roundabout and stops people bumping into each other. Zak has made this a room of instant impact."

Finalists

Hannah Trickett,
CP Hart

"A small room with a brief to create a dramatic atmosphere. A difficult thing to pull off but Hannah has done it really well. Touches like the custom-made Corian basin show a willingness to try something new."

Johanna Bush,
Evitavonni

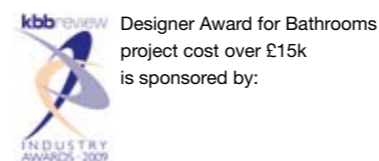

"A spectacular use of Bisazza tiles - you can see where the budget has been spent. But when you look past that Johanna has laid the room out beautifully too with a great use of curves and space."

Nick Flatley,
Yorkshire Design Assoc.

"A big space like this is difficult to fill in a bathroom but Nick has achieved it fantastically. A real sense of atmosphere, great product choice and interesting lighting. Very impressive."
